

Events Listing for March 15th 2020

The Landkeeper Newsletter/Center for Algonquin Culture/
Evan Pritchard/Tribal Harmony/Resonance Communications

https://www.podomatic.com/podcasts/moccasintracksradio/episodes/2020-02-11T03_15_29-08_00

The above is a link to Moccasin Tracks radio show of Vermont, hosted by Deb Regger, interviewing Evan Pritchard on a variety of topics. The next live broadcast is Monday, March 16th, 2020, and will be archived at the above stem.

Monday, March 16th, 2020: 9 to 10 am, live radio, Vermont area. Look for moccasintracksradio on www.podomatic.com/podcasts/moccasintracksradio.

Thursday, March 12th, 2020: 6 to 9 pm: Writing is Becoming: The March Writing Is Becoming workshop has been postponed until further notice, due to health concerns in Ulster County's Kingston area. To be added to the notification list, contact Evan, evan.pritchard7@gmail.com, (845)377-1110.

NOTE: If you live in Ulster County and experience symptoms of flu or pneumonia, please call the Ulster County Health Department at (845)340-3150 for screening for Coronavirus.

Tribal Harmony: Celebrating Indigenous Culture

Evan Pritchard's popular on-going Native American music showcase, Tribal Harmony, is launching an exciting new series at the Howland Cultural Center in Beacon, New York. The Howland, known for its diverse music programs and remarkable acoustics, is located at 477 Main Street, Beacon.

On Wednesday, February 19th, 2020, Tribal Harmony welcomed back the electrifying jazz journeys and traditional teaching tales of world-class vocalist Joan Henry and her "Spirited" All Star Jazz Ensemble, which includes Dennis Yerry on piano, Ruperto Ifil on percussion, Rich Syracuse on bass, Tom DePetri on guitar, and Gus Mancini on sax, most of whom head up their own ensembles.

Host Evan Pritchard (Mi'kmaq descendant, author, classical guitarist/songwriter) opened at 7 pm with ceremony and song, with a surprise appearance by Beacon's own Patrick Stanfield Jones.

All tickets are $10 in advance and $15 at the door, but additional donations welcome. For reservations, call ((845)831—4988, or email information@howlandculturalcenter.org. TICKETS: TRIBALHARMONY.BPT.ME. Tribal Harmony, hosted by Evan Pritchard 7 pm Contact: Craig Wolf, (845)831—4988. Evan Pritchard (845)377-1110 evan.pritchard7@gmail.com

ANGELINE BUTLER CONCERT POSTPONED DUE TO PUBLIC HEALTH CONCERNS

Tribal Harmony regrets to inform indigenous music fans that Angeline Butler will not be appearing at the Howland Center on Wednesday, March 18th as originally scheduled. This much anticipated concert featuring blues/jazz/classical/folk singing icon, Angeline Butler, of Cherokee and African descent, and her accompanist Brian Hurley, will be rescheduled for later in the year.

Upon reconvening, Angeline, a pioneer in the civil rights movement, and current winner of the Gandhi-King award, will recreate moments from the lives of musical activists Lena Horne, Mahalia Jackson, Nina Simone, Josephine Baker and others, involved in the struggle for civil rights, and sing Amazing Grace in the Cherokee language, with translations. Host Evan Pritchard (Mi'kmaq descendant, author, classical guitarist/songwriter) will open with ceremony and song. While the governor has banned all gatherings of 500 or over, the state senate has requested that no gatherings of more than 20 people be held in Dutchess and certain other counties at this time. We complied accordingly.

All tickets for Tribal Harmony at the Howland Center are $10 in advance and $15 at the door, but additional donations welcome. For reservations, call (845) 831—4988, or email information@howlandculturalcenter.org. TICKETS: TRIBALHARMONY.BPT.ME.

All Tribal Harmony events hosted by Evan Pritchard 7 pm Contact: Craig Wolf, (845)831—4988. Evan Pritchard (845)377-1110 evan.pritchard7@gmail.com

Thursday, March 19th, 2020: Equinox Celebration at Seed Song Farm, CANCELLED at this site. Individuals are encouraged to create their own small gatherings.

Wednesday, March 25th, 2020: 7 pm: LAUNCHING OF NEW SUNHEART CHANNEL, on Zoom, with weekly programs such as “The Accidental Hermit,” and interactive workshops such as “Wise Like a Heron” featuring Evan Pritchard, sponsored by SeekSacredSpace.org’s Donna Brickwood. Timely topics will include “Tracking the Animal Powers,” “Overcoming Fear with Ritual,” “Single Focus Meditation,” “The Seven Fires Prophecies Now,” “What Would Pete Seeger Do?” “Earthlight Spirituality,” “The Open Library of the Soul,” “Tribal Harmony (Music for Shut-ins)” “Where do we go from here (If we can’t go anywhere?)” “Keeping Yourself Entertained (the Native American Way)” “News From Peace Mountain,” “Return to Center, All Stress Un-owned...” “Ten Ceremonies to Honor the Earth” and much more.

Sunday, March 29th, 2020: 12 noon to 6 pm: The WESPAC workshops and ceremony has been postponed until later in the year. Contact Nada. wespacfoundation@gmail.com.

Friday, April 3rd, 2020: Highland Middle School: POSTPONED Evan is available for school events at all grade levels when schools reopen.

Friday, April 3rd, 2020: Evan Pritchard at Grace Exhibition Space 7 to 9 PM, stay tuned for details. Address: 182 Avenue C, New York, NY 10009. For updated information call: (646) 578-3402.

Saturday, April 4th, 2020: African Roots Library, Sally Bermanzohn will read from Willow’s Secrets, Sally’s second novel published by Epigraph Books of Rhinebeck. Signings by the author. Books are $17 each. POSTPONED

Sunday, April 5th, 2020: 2 to 4 pm. Every Day’s a Vision Quest: Applying Algonquin Vision Quest Teachings to Daily Life STILL SCHEDULED

In this experiential workshop we will discuss many of the teachings associated with the Vision Quest ordeal/fasting traditions of the Algonquins of the Hudson Valley. We will focus on insights and practices that might be useful even for those who cannot go on a formal ordeal or fast, but who seek to have visions about their direction in life. Among these are the importance of: 1. short fasts, from solid food, negative thoughts (such as fear and anger), addictions, speech, etc. and developing the commitment and determination to complete the ordeal. 2. arranging periods of isolation, preferably in a natural environment. 3. looking for signs in nature; 4. seeking one's mission in life, purpose, or direction. 5. setting aside a time period of at least a day for prayer and meditation and self-evaluation. 6. getting away from clocks and all machines for at least a day so that we can be on "Indian Time." 7. "following the spirit," or taking action based on signs, messages, and dreams, one after another, to see where it takes you. We will also discuss the "ordeal" of everyday life and how great challenges can become self-initiatory. Bring your questions and insights, as well as experiences with Vision Quests from all traditions. Based on the book "Following the Spirit: How (Not) to Go on a Vision Quest." Mirabai Books, 23 Mill Hill Road, Woodstock, NY 12498 (845)679-2100 $20 if by 4/1, $25 if after. workshop 2-4 pm.

Saturday, April 11th, 2020 Elders Gathering, African Roots Library, Kingston, NY 1 pm, tentative. Stay tuned for details.

Wednesday, April 15th, Tribal Harmony and the Howland Center looks forward to a concert with Beacon guitar favorite Patrick Stanfield Jones (Cherokee/Tsalagi) and Adam Falcon (Cherokee/Tsalagi) Stay tuned for details.

Sunday, April 19th, 2020: Virtual Earth Day Celebration, sponsored by Church of the Village, 2 to 6 pm. Evan will present a ZOOM cast talk on "If You Want to Help People Get As Far Away From Them As Possible," (Algonquin ways of being present for others while socially distancing yourself).

Saturday, April 25th, 2020: Airy Dixon talk at African Roots Library, tentative.

Sunday, April 26th, 2020: Earth Action at Old Dutch church, Kingston, may be rescheduled.

Friday, May 8th, 2020: 6 to 8 pm. African Roots Library, Kingston, NY TENTATIVE Evan will give an illustrated talk on: Sunskwa Sachem Mama Nuchwe and Her Esopus People. This talk will explore not only Mama Nuchwe's role as a peacemaker and strong leader, but also her influence on her children and grandchildren and their roles as spiritual and political leaders, plus some surprising clues as to where she might have lived.

Friday, May 15th, 2020: 7 to 9 pm, outdoor ceremony in the East Village, music, walking tour, tentative.

Saturday, May 16th, Sunday May 17th, 2020: 11 am to 5 pm, Wappingers Powwow, with Gil Tarbox; Shlathaus Park, near Myers Corners Road, Wappingers, NY. Evan will perform, tell stories, sign books, etc. Call Daniel Nimham Singers, (845)225-8154.

On Wednesday, June 17th, Tribal Harmony and the Howland Center hopes to welcome legendary activist vocal group “Magpie,” Terri Leonino and Greg Artzner. Tentative.

A Croton Clearwater Revival fundraiser will be held in a small corner of Croton Park, for a limited number of guests this year, due to extreme budget issues. Contact the Sloop Clearwater office on South Road, Beacon for details.

Goddard College Radio Plainfield VT Mocassin Tracks Radio..91.1 FM, 91.7 FM. www.wgdr.org for archived version.

<https://www.facebook.com/yearsclimatefacts/videos/584074552355084/>

The above link is to a speech by Greta Thunberg, “You Can’t Fool Physics.”

Left: Evan performing songs from 1967 with rock guitar virtuoso Bruce Edwards.